2. Acceptable substitutions for PSYC 100Lg include, but are not limited to: AP PSYC score of 4 or 5 and Higher Level IB PSYC score of 5, 6, or 7. These substitutions do not earn GE credit for students who started college in Fall 2015 or later. Please see PSYC Advisors for PSYC 100g prerequisite waivers.

3. Acceptable substitutions for MATH 114xg include, but are not limited to: AP Statistics score of 4 or 5, MATH 208x, MATH 218, or MATH 265.

4. It is recommended that no more than two upper division psychology courses be taken prior to the completion of PSYC 274Lg and PSYC 314L.

5. PSYC 440, PSYC 404, PSYC 420, and PSYC 426 may be used to fulfill either the Psychology Area or the PSYC 400-Level course requirement, but not both requirements.

6. For students pursuing the Psychology Honors Program, PSYC 314L must be completed before or taken at the same time as PSYC 380. PSYC 380 will count towards the Psychology Elective Requirement and PSYC 480 will count towards one of the PSYC 400-Level requirements.

7. Students may satisfy up to four upper division (300-499 range) major requirements through approved Dornsife Overseas Studies programs.

8. Some Psychology courses may have additional prerequisites or restrictions. Please check the USC Schedule of Classes and USC Catalogue.
